COUNCIL ELECTS VICE MAYOR

Burke Guill submitted a request for resurfacing of 866 feet of Patricia Ann Lane, east and 512 feet of Cawthorne st. with bituminous material and stone to smooth out areas pitted out by heavy traffic. No estimate was available for the cost, but this work has to be done by State Highway workers rather than town workers because of the machinery involved. Council approved the project.

T. E. Conner also asked about progress in the proposed rat control program. He, Robert Hubbard and Martin Webb are the town's committee working with VPI Extension personnel and others. The program will soon get underway, according to town manager Booth, with town funds paying for certain of the materials involved and under the direction of J.A. Smith, extension agent, agriculture, and others.

Council was notified that a proposed ordinance concerning the keeping of livestock within the town limits is in the hands of the town's attorney, Harry Gordon Lawson.

Building permits have been granted to Lee-Grant Realty Corp. for an eight-unit apartment house at the corner of Evergreen Avenue and Booth Drive.

Council went on record to congratulate Moses Motors Co. for the excellent job of cleaning up and beautifying a lot on Confederate Blvd. which previously, held autos damaged in accidents. Considerable discussion evolved from this as to how to "clean up" other sections of the town and county where junked autos litter the roadside.

EMBLEMS OF THE SINNER

... Roms. 3:22-23

Int.: All men are sinners whether they believe so or not. Irrespective of rank, rate, race, or reputation, the verdict of Heaven against all mankind is Romans 3:23, "For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God."

The fountain - head became polluted and now the whole stream has been contaminated. To deny this does not alter the fact either. Roms 3:19.

No, sin is not measured by our human standards. Man's judgement has been blinded, II Cor. 4:4.

Romans 3:22, says there is no difference in little or big sins. Years ago a Missionary discovered a fly that had contaminated the meat that the natives were eating. He took a magnifying glass and showed it to them and when they saw it, they smashed the glass. When God reveals our sins, we too, often want to smash our Bible or rebell against the preaching. A cesspool is a cesspool even if it is hidden by roses and a sinner is a sinner even though he may be covered by cultural or social background. In Isa. 53:6, the lost are described as "straying sheep". In Ex. 34:6, the Bible says that the lost are described as "straying sheep". In Exodus 32:8, the lost are described as "sheep that have turned aside".

Now there are some interesting things about the sheep. First of all they have a sense of direction. They can get lost in their own meadow. Second, we find that sheep cannot cleanse themselves. Dogs will roll in grass, birds will bathe in a pool-bath, but only God can cleanse a sinner. Thirdly, sheep are helpless when injured. The dog and tick bite his wounds, but only the shepherd can tend to an injured sheep, and only God can heal those who are sin sick. Fourthly, we find that sheep are defenseless. Most animals claw, bite, sting, or use speed, or have the ability to hide from their enemy, but the only protection for the sheep is the shepherd. John 10:11.

Another thing about a sheep is that we find they cannot find food or water. Mules are said to smell water but a sheep will eat or drink poison food and die.

Sixth, we find that sheep are easily frightened. This is the reason the shepherd must calm them with songs in the night.

Seventh, we find that sheep do not own their own wool. Sheep produce the wool but it belongs to the shepherd. All spiritual production in the Christian life belongs to the Shepherd. David confessed in Psalms 51:5, "Behold I was shapened in iniquity and in sin did my mother conceive me." David also declared in Psalms 58:3, that the wicked are estranged (alienated from God) from the womb, they go astray as soon as they are born, speaking lies." Psalms 119: 176, "I have gone astray like a lost sheep."

Jesus said in John 10:11, "I am the Good Shepherd, the Good Shepherd giveth His life for the sheep." In I Peter 2:25, the Bible says, "For ye were as sheep going astray but now are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls." In Matthew 18: 11, "If a man have a hundred sheep and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninty nine and go into the mountain and seek that which is gone astray."

Yes friends, you are like lost sheep and you need to return to Jesus, but, unable to do so, you must rely on Him for mercy and grace. May this be the day that God would grant you faith to believe.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

NEVER TOO BROKEN

Lesson for October 24, 1971

Background Scripture: Isaiah 61; Ephesians 2:11-19; Colossians 1:21-23.
Devotional Reading: Isaiah 42:1-9.

"It cannot be fixed."

These are usually very disheartening words. A valuable vase has shattered into many pieces, a favorite coat has been badly torn, a once-dependable machine will perform no longer—all of them beyond repair.

So it is with life too. There is much brokenness within and between people. Relationships seem irreparable, lives seem ruined, communities seem torn asunder—all too broken to mend, it appears. There is a dramatic scene in John Masefield's poem, The Window In The Bye Street, with a widow present at the execution of her son. Deeply moved, she prays, and in her prayer she speaks of eternal life as "a rest for broken things too broke to mend."

It is true: there are some things that have become too broken for men to repair. Some people are like "Humpty Dumpty" in that "all the king's horses and all the king's men" can't put them together again." Often the most tragic consequences of sin is the knowledge that we cannot do anything to "make up for it." Though men are capable of destroying almost everything, there are many things they cannot repair.

The beauty of the Gospel of Jesus Christ is its word of hope and promise concerning all the brokenness of life. Jesus came to heal our brokenness, to make us whole again. He came as the fulfillment of Isaiah's ancient promise of a divine Healer:

...the Lord has annointed me to bring good tidings to the afflicted; he has sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to those who are bound... (Isaiah 61:1).

"Holy" and "Whole"

Christ's whole purpose in coming, said Paul, was to: "present us holy and blameless and irreproachable before him..." (Colossians 1:22). To be 'holy" is to be "whole." Both of these terms as well as "healthy" are derived from a common Old English word, hal, which means complete. Thus, the Gospel proclaims to us the assurance that things are new, "to be taken by the power of Christ, they cannot be made whole.

We often make the mistake of giving up on that which is badly broken. There are some situations that leave us hopeless. We must remember there was never a situation so hopeless, never a man so helpless, never a cause so doomed as on Good Friday. Yet, says the Easter faith, life is never too broken to mend.
